

MURFIT ACCEPTS CHAIRMANSHIP OF SALVATION ARMY

Newtown Man Appointed For His Thirteenth Consecutive Year

DRIVE STARTS APRIL 3

Overall Goal of $700,000 For Phila. and Three Suburban Counties

Wallace G. Murfit, Newtown, has accepted chairmanship of Bucks County in the 1950 Salvation Army maintenance fund appeal which opens Monday, April 3rd.

Murfit's appointment as chairman for the 13th consecutive year was announced by Harry C. Culshaw, general drive chairman.

Accepting the post Murfit cited the work of campaign volunteers who have "served so well and faithfully in previous drives in Bucks County."

"With the continued support and cooperation of the thousands of people in Bucks County who each year give of their time and effort to make the drive a success, I feel certain that the 1950 goal will be over-subscribed again this year," he said.

One hundred percent enrollment of top level chairmen in the local area, who will join with an estimated 17,000 volunteers in solicitation of residents of Philadelphia and a three-county suburban area, was reported by Culshaw.

An overall goal of $700,000 has been set for the drive which will be launched with a kick-off luncheon for chairmen and workers Monday, April 3rd, at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia.

Murfit pointed out that the quota represents the minimum amount required to maintain operation of the 35 Philadelphia area Salvation Army agencies at present levels throughout the coming year.

County organization which includes the door-to-door solicitation of residents and business firms in 18 local communities has been amplified and extended this year in order to insure complete coverage. Serving as vice-chairmen are: William M. Hill, Jr., Sellersville; J. Carroll Molloy, Jr., Doylestown; and A. E. Lewis, Bristol.

The following have been named community chairmen: Bristol, resident chairman, Mrs. John Black, 314 Cedar st.; business chairman, A. E. Lewis, 736 Beaver st.; Buckingham, Mrs. Henry D. Wendt, Carversville; Chalfont, Mrs. George N. Carlin, R.D. No. 1, Chalfont; Danboro, Mrs. James M. Porter; Doylestown, Mrs. Phillip Elkin; Feasterville, Mrs. Albert J. Gindhart; Langhorne & Pottsville, Mrs. Arthur M. Lebowitz; Langhorne, Morrisville, Mrs. James G. Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANNED BY SCRIEES

"Safety and religion are old-fashioned because people think of them most when they are needed," declared Frederick J. Reichert, Phila., a safety engineer in the employ of the Bell Telephone Company, before about 35 persons at the meeting of the Warrington Lions Club, on Thursday.

Mr. Reichert, showed a motion picture concerning safety on the farm.

"Safety," said Mr. Reichert, has always been preached, but its importance usually is not realized until an accident takes place. The duty of the safety engineer is to deal with humans, and his job is to attempt to prevent bad practices in industry and on the farm. It has been found that 85 percent of all accidents are caused by human failures, and the greatest factor here is not thinking of the dangers that exist. Whether working on the farm or in the shop, the employee must realize that danger is always at hand."

For about 70 fourth grade Doylestown youngsters on Thursday, a talk on China was given by Pearl Buck, novelist, in connection with their unit study on that country.

"China received her name," Mrs. Buck explained to pupils of Miss Anna Keenan and Miss Alice Bright, "long ago from an emperor of early times, named Chin." Introduced by "Jackie" Shadinger, Miss Buck displayed prized possessions from the east and explained their origin and use.

Gets Lamp Patent

The lamp is mounted at the top of a spiral stairway with a mirror back and a shade at the top. The stand is made of walnut and is of antique design.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Eighty persons were killed in Wales yesterday when an overloaded plane carrying 78 passengers and a crew of five from a rugby game in Ireland nose-dived while landing. It was the worst disaster in aviation history.

A fraction less than 58% of the Belgian voters cast ballots favoring the return of King Leopold to the throne. The King, who said he would abdicate unless he received 55% of the vote, scored heavily in the Flemish area, but this lead was cut down in Wallonia. The final decision rests with Parliament.

There was an election in the Soviet Union, too, but only a single slate of candidates for the Supreme Soviet was on the ballot. Yugoslavia will hold a single-slate election on March 26 designed to show solid support for the Tito policy.

The Kremlin, in an effort to consolidate its hold over a vast Communist area, is directing Soviet policy toward minimizing Western influence in satellite states and toward seeking an arrangement with the United States to keep hands off the other's "sphere of influence," Washington officials believe.

The first annual banquet of Chester W. Terchon Post, No. 5542, V. F. W. Cadet Drum and Bugle Corps, was held Saturday evening in the Bristol Methodist Church dining hall. J. J. Hetherington, burgess of Bristol, was the guest speaker, with Charles G. Rathke acting as toastmaster. The honor cadet of the year was announced and promotions made.

The cadets filed into the hall in formation. The group sang America, after which the Rev. Andrew G. Solla, Bucks County Council Chaplain of V. F. W., gave the invocation. Mr. Rathke, with Charles Brodie at the piano, led the group in singing.

Mr. Rathke welcomed the guests and cadets, saying: "It is a great pleasure to be here tonight and see all the cadets here to be honored for the work they are doing. A cadet corps is an organization that builds leadership and one the community should be proud of." He introduced the following officers and guests of Terchon Post: Henry R. Kornstedt, Jr., commander; Robert H. Grimshaw, senior vice-commander; Maurice G. Wildman, junior vice-commander; Howard H. Smoyer, quartermaster; Herbert A. Williams, adjutant; and Thomas L. Stewart, service officer. Officers of the Ladies Auxiliary: Mrs. Margaret White, president; Mrs. Mildred Wilson, senior vice-president; Mrs. Mary Keller, junior vice-president; Mrs. Elizabeth Smoyer, chaplain; Mrs. Robert Rue, secretary; Mrs. Mildred Smoyer, treasurer; Mrs.

Mildred Schweizer, guard; and Miss Ann Sabatini, conductress. Cadet Association officers: Mrs. Charles Brodie, president; Mrs. Henry Kornstedt, vice-president; Mrs. S. Tomlinson, Bucks County Council Commander; Mrs. Frances K. Wilson, 3rd, Bucks County Council President, Ladies Auxiliary.

There was an interesting program of entertainment furnished by professional entertainers.

Charles G. Brodie, corps commander, was called upon to make the presentations. Mr. Brodie said: "It is a great pleasure to be the commander of this cadet corps. It is a bunch of good boys and girls. This corps was organized in 1947. It has had many 'ups' and 'downs' in the past year and a half. The corps has been rebuilding, and once again it is ready to enter competition. It is going out this year to make a showing."

Cadets Elizabeth Schwendeman, George C. Ginsbans, William R. Clay, and Robert W. Hardy were asked to step to the front. Mr. Brodie said: "You four have worked hard in building the corps and for

25 PER CENT MAKE ERRORS ON RETURNS

Only A Few Are Fraudulent According To Income Tax Officials

BENEFIT OF DOUBT

Felix Cotten, financial specialist of the Washington INS Service Staff, reports in the following article that nearly 26 percent of the income tax payers are expected to make mistakes in their returns, due to be filed by midnight, March 15. This is the concluding chapter of a three-part series.

By Felix Cotten
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 13—(INS)—A sample investigation reveals that of the 53 million Americans filing income tax returns, about 13,600,000, or nearly 26 per cent, make mistakes of one kind or another.

Internal revenue bureau officials say that only a few thousand of these are fraudulent "mistakes." Investigation shows that in numerous cases it is simply a matter of the taxpayer giving himself the benefit of the doubt.

An estimated 1.5 to two billion dollars, out of a total individual income tax take of nearly 19 billion, is lost to the government through these errors.

Officials say that, with the present staff, they pick up about 750 million of this. This leaves, they point out, between 750 million and one billion, 250 million which they feel is slipping through their fingers because they do not have enough agents to thoroughly check income tax returns.

These conclusions are based on a sample audit of 160,000 of the 1948 returns, selected according to a scientific pattern.

The internal revenue has already gone over 140,000 of these with a "fine-toothed comb." They expect to learn from this project a lot about the habits of the American taxpayer.

One thing discovered is that many Americans are simply no geniuses at arithmetic. There are a lot of mistakes in addition and subtraction. A taxpayer here and there puts down his Aunt Kate as a dependent when she really isn't.

Many develop extravagant notions as to how much they contribute to churches and charities. And a lot of them don't remember all the income they received from odd jobs.

But the internal revenue feels that most of these are cases where taxpayers give themselves the benefit of the doubt. Officials assert that if they never investigated an income tax return the government would lose more money from what they regard as honest mistakes than from fraud.

Thousands of refunds are delayed because taxpayers did not print their names and addresses legibly. These refund checks are returned to the treasury by post offices, and a new effort must be made to find the taxpayers.

The Internal Revenue's first advice to taxpayers is to see that their

TELEVISION ROBBERY WAVE STRIKES AREA

9th Set in Section Adjacent To Bristol Stolen During The Week-End

AT GEO. W. LOVETT'S

A wave of television robberies at private residences in the three townships—Bensalem, Bristol and Falls—adjacent to Bristol has occurred during the past few weeks. A total of nine sets of various makes and models have been taken from residences in the area. How the sets are disposed of is a mystery, some believing that a black market in television sets exists.

The first such robbery to occur in Falls township was on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lovett, Tullytown-Oxford Valley road. The Lovetts were absent from their home for two hours Saturday evening, between seven and nine o'clock. Upon their return they found the front door open and upon further investigation discovered that the television set was missing. It was a floor model Philco, valued at approximately $300. It had been purchased about three or four months ago. Nothing else in the house had been disturbed, according to the Lovetts.

The Lovetts state that the thief or thieves had broken a pane of glass in the rear door to gain entrance, cut the wires of the television set, and apparently carried

Bucks County Secretary Killed

Tamaqua, Pa.—A 20-year-old Bucks County secretary was killed yesterday when the sedan in which he was riding skidded out of control atop snow-covered Blue Mountain near Tamaqua. The victim was identified as Miss Letitia Ashworth, of Washington avenue, Wycombe. She died of a fractured skull.

Miss Ashworth, a secretary with the Philadelphia law firm of Ambler and Ambler, lived with her parents. Her father, James E. Kruger Ashworth, is a contractor.

The young secretary was a passenger in a car driven by Robert Meeker, 24, a theologian. The couple was enroute to visit Meeker's family in Shickshinny, near Berwick. Meeker suffered minor injuries.

Stalin Gets Big Vote

Moscow—Premier Stalin was reported today to have received 100 per cent of his constituency's votes in Russia's parliamentary election. Balloting in the Soviet election ended last midnight and many constituencies completed their voting some fifteen hours before the midnight closing time when tabulation of ballots began.

Foreign observers in Moscow expressed belief that Stalin now may open a new peace offensive. Speculation that the Soviet leader might be willing to meet President Truman for "peace talks" in Europe was based on the pre-election views expressed by Deputy Premier Georgi Malenkov.

5 Killed at Lacey Park; 2 in Airplane Crash and Fire at Quakertown

NOMINATE OFFICERS

Annual Meeting To Be At Langhorne, June 9th; No Parade Plans Made

TRUMBAUERSVILLE, Mar. 13—Highlights of the quarterly meeting of Bucks County Firemen's Association, held Saturday evening in the headquarters of Trumbauersville Fire Co., here, were an instructive motion picture film on navy fire fighting equipment; report of the fire marshal showing fire loss of $43,110 and seven deaths by fire in three months; nomination of officers; and plans for the annual meeting at Langhorne in June.

The addresses of welcome were by Burgess Jenkins of this borough, and Robert Hallander, chief of the local fire company. The representatives of the 31 companies present were then shown a motion picture through courtesy of a Naval Air Base, this portraying type of fire fighting equipment used by the navy to fight fires. Presiding officer was Ralph Wassner, Doylestown.

Fire Marshal Robert Graham, Chalfont, reported as follows for the three month period just ended: Number of alarms, 191; fire loss, $43,110; insurance on property, $134,960; property at risk, $691,600; hose fires, 16; barns, 4; store, 1; fields, 146; oil burners, 4; automobiles, 6; electric service cable, 1; airplane, 1; factory, 1; garages, 3; chimneys, 4; greenhouses, 1; brooder house, 1; false alarms, 2; firemen injured, James Hudson, Langhorne, struck by truck at scene of a fire; deaths by fire, 7, namely: Horace Morrow, 39, Claire Morrow, 41, and children Virginia, Patricia and Loletta Morrow, at Lacey Park; Lt. The latter accident and fire were discussed by Raymond Strunk, Quakertown, who praised the pilot for the evident heroic attempt he made to clear the school house at Quakertown, the "plane missing it by inches. It was explained that when the plane crashed everything for a distance around was ignited, including some buildings, clothing on lines, etc.; and metal parts were hurled through buildings.

Friday evening, June 9th, is the date set for the annual meeting at American Legion country club home, Langhorne. No plans are made as yet for the annual parade. It was pointed out that with the parade reaching such magnitude only about four boroughs in the county are equipped to handle such an event.

Officers were nominated as follows: President, Ralph Wassner; vice presidents—1st, Lloyd Y. Crouthamel, Dublin, 2nd, Walter Wolf, Langhorne, 3rd, Leonard Roberts, Trevese; secretary, Clifford Shearer, Quakertown; financial secretary, Lawrence Gillmore, Lahaska (Robert Landis, present incumbent).

Only those Americans given to self-delusion will think that the Coplon-Gubitchev spy case was an isolated one and that the conviction of the pair in a New York court ends the menace to the nation. The truth is, of course that the trial has shown how easily the deepest secrets of the government can be transferred to a potential enemy.

Coupled with the Hiss case, the Klaus Fuchs case, the Maj. George Racy Jordan and the Senator McCarthy charges, the Coplon affair is notice that day in and day out there must be most careful screening of all candidates for federal jobs in departments which have anything to do with the national security.

It is not enough to "think" that men and women are loyal to the United States. Their loyalty must be established beyond all possible doubt. Unless the administration adopts that course at once, the nation's secrets will never be safe from the prying eyes of the members of the world's most extensive and efficient espionage system.

Soviet Russia solves her problem by erecting around her activities an iron curtain which keeps all foreigners in the dark. America wants none of that, but it must make sure that none of its own people, whether misguided or plain traitors, do the dirty work for an alien government. Eternal vigilance is still the price of liberty.

BRIEF FLOOD, LONG EBB

Edgar Lee Masters was a lawyer by vocation and a poet by avocation before "Spoon River Anthology" made him, at 46, a major figure on the American literary scene. Even that sensational success did not lead him to give up his profession. It was not until 1920, five years and five more books of poetry later, that he left the law of writing.

So it was hardly recklessness that caused him to surrender the relative security of his practice for a calling that was to reduce him to poverty in his later years. Who would not agree that he could reasonably expect his talent to earn him a good living, assuming he could keep on writing? Yet it is clear now that he misjudged his gift. It was to bear no more splendid flowers like "Spoon River."

His story may seem even more tragic because he might have been better off materially if he had modeled the last years of his life on those that had gone before. To reach a high mark once and to try again and again to repeat that achievement, only to fail each time, is a bitter drink for any man to follow.

It was the fate of Edgar Lee Masters to reach a lofty summit for a brief moment and then fall back, never to regain it. But many poets would gladly take that fate, for few ever rise as high.

Governor of Florida has put a ban on gambling in that state. The public, however, is still expected to buy Florida grapefruit.

ECHOES OF THE PAST
(By Courier Staff Member)
Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol June 27, 1901. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published at Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.
The first commencement of the National Farm School (Doylestown) took place at that institution on Wednesday afternoon. It was preceded by the baccalaureate sermon last Sunday, a meeting of the Literary Society Monday, and class day exercises Tuesday.

The 14th annual commencement of the Bristol high school was held in the high school assembly room on Tuesday evening.

In order that there may be no loop-holes which will prevent the building of the trolley road from Morrisville to Bristol, the Trenton and Bristol Street Railway Company, which was recently incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, last week obtained a charter at Harrisburg. The capitalization of the company is placed at $36,000. The directors of the Bristol Street Railway Company are all Bristol men, known to be persona grata with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. They are: G. M. Dorrance, Frank F. Bell, Frank G. Edwards, Benjamin S. Johnson and James Drury.

Beginning July 1, the work of propagating sturgeon will be commenced at the Bristol hatchery. In former years the Delaware River was alive with sturgeon, but each season the catch diminished until now the fish has almost entirely disappeared from the river. The legislature of Penna. has appropriated $750 and the state of New Jersey has made an equal appropriation for the purpose of replenishing the stream. The Bristol hatchery has been selected as the joint point for the initial work of artificially repopulating the short-comings of nature in preventing the extinction of the sturgeon.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS
By FRANK R. KENT

Byrd and The Republicans
Washington, March 13.

THE similarity between the "declaration of principles" recently made by the Republicans and those espoused and expounded by Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, seems largely to have escaped notice. Yet, they are almost identical. This does not mean that Senator Byrd has gone Republican; rather it means the Republicans have gone Byrd.

THERE is one great difference between them. Senator Byrd has held his principles a lot longer and a whole lot more firmly than the Republicans. So far as he is concerned, they are not newly acquired at all. With him they are congenital, inherited and inherent though he makes no claim of originality, freely conceding that they were the principles of Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson. They were also the principles of Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson, of John W. Davis and Alfred E. Smith, of many millions of other American citizens in every state, both past and present.

IN ADDITION, they were the principles of Franklin Roosevelt, promulgated in the party platform of 1932 and urged by him in speech after speech indicting governmental waste and extravagance, denouncing deficit financing, a swollen Federal bureaucracy, high taxes and heavy debts as dangers to the nation, unequivocally pledging himself to end all these. If ever a man got a mandate he got his in the majority given him on election day. Yet, he clung to those principles a bare six months after his inaugural. About that time he became a convert to the great spending theories of the left-wing economists by whom he was surrounded. About that time he had opened up for him a vision of the tremendous political potentialities charged him either with inconsistency or with harboring any personal or selfish motive. There are only two exceptions: One was furnished by the cheap labor bosses who, on the last day of the last Virginia campaign, put out a discreditable smear too late to answer. The day after the election Senator Byrd branded these labor bosses as unmitigated liars, which is exactly what they were. Another exception was made by Senator Hubert (Lippy) Humphrey, of Minnesota, who some days ago charged that Senator Byrd's Economy Committee itself had wasted large sums of money and was being used by him for personal propaganda. As near as the parliamentary rules permitted, Senator Byrd not only called Mr. Humphrey a liar but pretty well proved it while his senatorial colleagues registered overwhelming approval.

IT IS a tribute to Senator Byrd that the Republicans, desperately searching for "principles" that will appeal to the voters against the Truman Administration, should have adopted the Byrd principles. They give him no credit, but that is what they have done just the same and they are on sound ground for the first time in a long while. It was Senator Byrd, and not the Republican party, who first indicted the Truman Administration as on the road to socialism, who first forecast the current deficit as upward of five billions, who first laid the unanswerable fiscal facts before the people and first insisted that the free-enterprise system cannot continue to exist in national insolvency.

AND when, in his recent interview with Mr. Krock, Mr. Truman said that "in no sense does he tolerate deficit spending," that he "hates deficits as much as Harry Byrd ever could and it is only a temporary condition brought on by necessities which could not be removed by any genius of statecraft known or available to him" when those noble words from the President made their appearance, it was not the Republican party, but Senator Byrd, who in a statement pounded Mr. Truman with facts, rattled him with figures and impaled him upon his own tax and spending record until the pretense of a distant forecast was made too ridiculous to be seriously maintained. If the Republican party has real sense it will let its publicity-seeking "progressives" with the "liberal" columnist promoters go their own way. They will cling to the Byrd principles and go to the country on the facts and figures of this penetrating and illuminating Byrd statement. If once these really reach—and are understood by—the American people, the conservative majority which undoubtedly exists, despite sectional, racial and other prejudices, might easily be welded behind a conservative candidate in a presidential election.

Speaker at Terchon Cadet Corps' First Annual Banquet Is Burgess Hetherington

This work and loyalty you are hereby promoted to the rank of lieutenant commander.

Additional promotions were announced by Mr. Brodie: "Judy" Wright, Patricia Downing, and Mary Lattanzi, majorettes; Arlene Pittman, sergeant of colors; Marie Manino, corporal of colors, and Rosemarie Fields, sergeant of drum section; John Cassidy, Clarence Sampson, and Raymond Walton, sergeants of drum section; Marvin Bell, George Perkins and Vincent Castell, corporals of the drum section; S. W. Black, William Fisher, James Bustraan, George Patterson, Joseph Capizzi, and James Wright, sergeants of bugle section; John Sabol, James Gallone, Joseph Puchino, Roy Powell, and Frank Schwendeman, corporals of the bugle section.

Charles G. Brodie, Jr., age four, was asked to step forward and receive his baton which made him an official junior drum major of the corps.

The award of the honor cadet, made to the boy or girl who is outstanding in the corps and who has done more than his part in helping the corps to be of service and to grow was presented by Mr. Brodie to Cadet Sgt. Clarence Sampson. Mr. Brodie said: "It is an honor to award this fleur-de-queue to you as the honor cadet of the year. I hope you will wear it with pride. The honor cadet is picked once a year and this is the first year for this award to be made, and you are the first to be awarded this honor." Mr. Brodie placed the fleur-de-queue on Sampson's uniform.

Mr. Rathke, addressing those assembled, said: "It has been a pleasure and honor to be toastmaster here tonight. The guest I am going to introduce now is one who most of us know. He is I. J. Hetherington, burgess of Bristol. I have known him for many years, and I know that he is trying to build Bristol, and has his heart and soul wrapped up in Bristol."

Burgess Hetherington said: "Back in 1928 I introduced a junior drum and bugle corps, at a convention at Uniontown. It was the first time any organization had introduced a junior corps. Since that date cadet corps have been growing steadily, not only bigger and more of them but also in service to the communities. The cadets of today will be the leaders of tomorrow. The elders should spend just a little more time with the children. Grow-ups should work for organizations such as this. If we did we would have a much better community, state and nation to live in. In a national magazine is a statement which reads: 'You have to give to get anything.' This is very true, and you boys and girls will find the more you give, the more you will achieve in life. You cadets must aim high to achieve anything worthwhile."

"I have been interested in the work of cadet corps a long time, and have found you cannot win unless you have the will to win. You must be willing to take orders, and carry them out. Someone must be boss and issue the orders. You will find this all through life. The cadet corps is like the army; it has its leaders and junior officers. Mr. Brodie made promotions in the corps tonight. They are not just on paper, but are the officers of the corps. You officers should not get high hat, or sneaky, in any way, as it does not pay. Nothing can break an officer quicker than for him to get high hat. The boys and girls under you get to dislike you for it, and don't forget you as an officer are only as good as the boys and girls you command. Always remember in life, until you learn to take orders, you cannot give them. The aim and ambition of the veteran organizations is to assist you to become better men and women, and to teach you to live and let live. You must always be considerate of others; if you do this, you will have a better corps and will achieve victory, also you will make a better community, state and nation to live in."

In closing, Burgess Hetherington said: "You, as cadets, are honoring Americanism. You are not only learning about it, but also spreading it. Always be tolerant in everything you do. Be honest and true and in so doing you will be building a bigger and better America."

Commander Brodie was presented with a shirt and tie by William R. Clay, on behalf of the cadets. Then Elizabeth Schwendeman presented Mrs. Brodie with flowers for the work she has done for the cadets. The Rev. Solia gave the benediction.

bent, unable to be a candidate for re-nomination due to ill health; treasurer, Louis C. Leedom, Yardley; trustee (three years), Paul McBride, Feasterville; fire marshal, Robert Graham, Chalfont; chaplain, the Rev. W. G. C. Roeder, Chalfont; delegate to state convention, Charles Steiner, Fallsington.

Donald Roberts reported on the meeting of the inter-county association, the next session of same to be April 8th. The financial secretary's report showed 532 members from 63 companies. One death benefit payment was arranged for during the past three months, for the late Howard Krupp, Chalfont.

With fire prevention week occurring in October, Leonard Roberts, Willis Trauger, Quakertown; William Dean, Southampton; and William Smith, Croydon, were named as a committee to plan for observance of such. Memorial committee to arrange service honoring deceased firemen's memory in June includes: Raymond Strunk, Donald Roberts and Robert Graham.

Assistant county detective William L. Stackhouse reported on a barn fire at Cross Keys, the young man of 19 who is said to have admitted setting the blaze being in custody. He started the fire in the afternoon, the blaze not breaking out and being discovered until the following morning. It was reported.

Harry Lahr gave a report of the Eastern Penna. First Aid Squad, he being a member of Bucks Co. Rescue Squad, Croydon. The report of the Rescue Squad work for the past quarter, given by Harry A. Eckert, Croydon, shows: Calls answered, 190; sick and injured transported, 208; accident calls, 55; drownings, 2; attempted suicide, 1; gas asphyxiation, 2; oxygen tent calls, 8; oxygen administration calls, 21; fire calls for rescue truck, 5; blood donated, 89 pints; miles traveled by three ambulances, 6,610; miles traveled by rescue truck, 66; man hours of duty, 3,258. In the report it was suggested that government excise taxes on equipment and trucks be removed. It was pointed out that work of volunteers from the community "should not be penalized by taxes on equipment." It was mentioned that such taxes can only be done away with through the state's first aid organization and the legislators. Mr. Eckert informed that the Penna. First Aid Council is producing a bill aimed to benefit all volunteers in this respect.

Named as auditors are: Paul Myers, Richlandtown; William Ettinger, Newtown; and Frank Shelley, Quakertown.

The treasurer reported a balance of $774.07.

Refreshments were served. The Ladies' Auxiliary members also witnessed the showing of the film which the men enjoyed.

Henry Harland Shelton, kidnaper, Amasa, Mich.

Morris Guralnick, knifer and escapee, Kingston, N. Y.

Besides the 145 fleeing criminals officially listed as "dangerous," the FBI is seeking 4,239 other Federal fugitives including 2,102 Army deserters, 1,414 lawbreakers, and 723 draft dodgers.

The G-Men, who in 1949 helped local authorities capture 12,786 fugitives, largely through fingerprint identification, have an active file of 20,000 men and women wanted on various charges throughout the United States.

An FBI spokesman told how the Bureau carries on its ceaseless search for fugitive criminals. He said:

"The basic operation in seeking a fugitive is to get all the facts about him—habits and mannerisms, recreation preferences, hobbies, organizational ties, and, of course, the best possible physical description, with photographs."

"Fugitives usually gravitate to group activities. 'Loners' are few. Thus, it's important to know what activities may attract a wanted man—for example, if he's a pool shark it is inevitable that he will visit pool rooms.

"The FBI must know the names and whereabouts of relatives and former associates. That helps our agents learn what to look for and where to look."

The Bureau virtually blankets the nation's law-enforcement offices with "identification orders" on the Federal fugitives—descriptive "dodgers" which are the modern counterpart of the "dead or alive" posters of the Old West.

As an example of the importance of knowing the individual characteristics of a fugitive, the FBI agent told of one case in which the wanted man was known to be a diabetic victim. Drug stores and physicians in the area where he could be expected to be hiding were circled. He was captured.

In another case, the fugitive was a garage mechanic. The FBI circled garages in the area where he was being sought. He was seized when he walked into a garage and asked for a job.

The federal agent emphasized that even when a fugitive knows what the FBI is doing in its search for him, it seldom helps him. The G-man observed:

"If he fails to follow his usual habits, or is driven out of his usual pursuits, he merely attracts attention to himself and arouses suspicion. For instance, a paperhanger seeking work in a garage stirs unusual interest."

A fugitive must live, usually must work, and the greater number of jobs he gets the more he attracts attention to himself.

Sometimes the desperate efforts of fugitives to elude capture boom-erang.

The G-man described a fugitive who moved from city to city, and in each place looked up the FBI's local telephone number. Whenever the criminal entered a restaurant or bar he sat near the public phone and watched each person making a call.

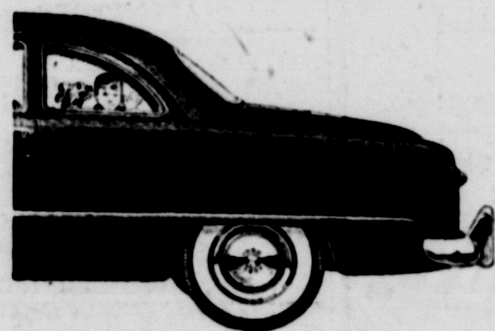

If the number dialed corresponded to the first letters of the FBI exchange, the man left the restaurant. Once, he abandoned a full meal. Eventually, a suspicious cafe man reported the nervous character—and he was captured.

This fugitive, incidentally, was a chain smoker. He knew the FBI had been informed of his favorite brand of cigaret. He changed his brand every time he bought a pack of smokes. This in itself was a suspicious action and the FBI says that cigarettes would have led to his capture if the "telephone jitters" had not.

are extremely skillful with hand-work, the famed writer showed pictures made of iron, rich fans, embroidery and carved jewel boxes of teak and rosewood. Old books illustrated what seemed to the children an "upside down" practice of writing down the page instead of across and from the back to the front of the book.

Boys' and girls' basketball teams of Sell-Perk high school were guests Thursday evening at the dinner meeting of Perkashie Rotary Club. Accompanying the young people were the coaches, Mrs. Ethel Stout and Earl Druckenmiller; the high school principal, Howard S. Nase; and the director of athletics, Martin L. Miller.

Although the girls finished the season in last place in the Bux-Mont League and the boys' team finished last in the Bux-Mont Conference, the Rotarians gave the young people credit for their good sportsmanship.

The guest speaker was "Eddie" Gottlieb, manager of the Philadelphia Phillies. He commented upon the importance of adequate training and good sportsmanship in spite of defeat. He credited the teams for their willingness to carry on in spite of a season that was not termed successful.

In addition, Mr. Gottlieb showed a slow motion picture of the Warriors in action in order that the young people might study the fine points of the game.

YANKEE INGENUITY

TOKYO—(INS)—The Japanese, exposed to American military phraseology for more than four years, have included some of the G. I. terms in their own vocabulary. But it took an enterprising lingerie dealer to hit the jackpot by putting some of the now-familiar words to practical use. He produced a series of variously-tinted panties and had the injunction "Off Limits" embroidered on them in contrasting colors.

"RAILSPLITTERS"

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—To test new cutting tools, engineers whittle castron "logs" weighing half a ton into millions of iron chips. The cutting tools then are examined under a microscope for wear.

PROFY TEAM IN CLOSE GAME NOSES OUT TULLYTOWN

In one of the most thrilling games of the season, the Profy quintet nosed out the Tullytown team, 48-47, yesterday afternoon in a Bristol Basketball League game on the Rohm and Haas court.

The game was decided in the last twenty seconds when "Ham" Konefal swished the cords with a side court shot. The Profymen were trailing at the time, 47-46.

The triumph enabled the radiomen to take a full game lead on first place over the Franklin team. These two aggregations will play tonight in the first game on the high school floor.

The Profy team had the lead most of the time in the tilt. Tullytown tied it in the second quarter on Ken Parr's fielder but Burton put the Mill streeters in front with a set shot. After Profy's had taken a commanding lead, Tullytown began to whittle the score.

PRESENTED WITH WATCH FOR HIS PERFECT SCORE

Friday evening at the Bristol Recreational Center "Kemps" Boccardo was presented with several awards for his recent "perfect" game, which was bowled in the Rohm & Haas League. This outstanding feat was performed January 2th, on ABC-sanctioned alleys.

In behalf of "Bob" Wadrop and "Vince" Dutavich, proprietors of the Bristol Recreation Center, a beautiful wrist watch was presented to "Kemps." An inscription was engraved upon the back of the watch signifying this event.

Joseph Grinnan, a representative of the Brunswick Balke-Clendenen Company, presented "Kemps" with a new Brunswick Mineralite bowling ball and an emblem signifying his membership to the "Chuck Collier 200 Club."

Recently, "Kemps" received an award of a $25 gift from the local Bristol Bowling Association.

The National American Bowling Congress, the parent organization of bowling associations, will award the local champion a gold ring with its insignia upon it.

TANGY KRAUT PERKS UP APPETITES

Busy days call for easy meals—meals that can be prepared in the morning and popped into the oven just before mealtime. Pepper Pot Krautfurter Casserole is the perfect answer for a hearty, delicious and nutritious meal all in one. The combined tangy aroma of kraut and spicy pepper pot is just the thing to greet hungry appetites on cold winter nights.

Pepper Pot Krautfurter Casserole

(Makes 4-6 servings)
1 No. 2-1/2 can sauerkraut
2 cans condensed pepper pot soup
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
6-8 frankfurters

Combine sauerkraut and pepper pot soup (adding 1/2 cup of water if needed). Season with salt and pepper. Place in a greased casserole, cover, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 20 minutes. Place frankfurters on top of casserole; return to oven and bake uncovered for 10-15 minutes longer.

Simple Do's For Juicy, Broiled Steak

Broiled steaks merit special cooking attention—but little of it! According to Reba Staggs, well-known meat cookery expert, broiling steaks so they are uniformly browned on the outside and cooked to the desired degree of doneness on the inside is quite a simple matter.

First of all it is important where the steak is placed in the broiler. The correct distance from the heat is two to three inches depending on the thickness of the steak (1-inch steaks, 2 inches; 2-inch steaks, 3 inches). This will give a moderate broiling temperature of about 350 degrees F.

The second simple rule of broiling is that the steak needs to be turned only once. When the meat is nicely browned it is cooked about half way through and then it is seasoned, turned on the second side and finished cooking. When that side is cooked, it is seasoned and the steak is ready for the meat platter and immediate serving. For a rare done 1-inch steak from 18 to 20 minutes cooking time is required; medium-done, 20 to 25 minutes. For a rare done 2-inch steak 30 to 35 minutes is required; medium-done, 40 to 45 minutes.
